tween Conkling and Bristow.

It is assumed by the friends of Mr. Conkling that he will, if nominated, command the full strength of the party, and in pressing his nomination they do not stop to consider contingencies. Their first objective point is his nomination. This they propose to work for regardless of all other considerations.

They argue that Conkling would get as many votes as any other candidate, and will not admit the possibility of risking anything by crowding him through the Convention. They will also be in Cincinnati in full force. Quarters have already been engaged for over two thous and men from New York, who will work up the enthusiasm, and do the outside talking and shouting.

This kind of work, however, while it may succeed in controlling the Convention, as that which nominated Greeley in 1872, was controlled, would not be effective in electing the candidate. The Republican party, in order to succeed, must have an unexceptionable candidate. Such a candidate Mr. Conkling is not.

collect over the law rate and fine and imprisonment. Surely in this latter state interest must be low and regular. Singular enough such results have not followed. Money has been worth as high as 100 per cent per annum, and people have been found willing to lend it at the price; and at other times within a few months money would only bring 2½ per cent per annum, and men would lend it at that price. Still more singular, the society designed to be protected by these laws scorn a man who seeks their interference. Another suggestive fact is, that the State now growing fastest in wealth and population, and whose labor is best paid, permits interest under contract without limit. Slowly but surely the world has advanced from enforcing with "rigorous analties" law which find the price of BELLAIRE LOCALS.—We hope with nine-tenths of our citizens, that our City Council will not be so foolish as to abandon the present system of lighting the streets with gas, and adopt kerosene or lard oil or tailow dips or pine knots, or any other primitive way of making "darkness visible." The arguments already presented—that such a step would virtually kill the gas company, that the cost of changing the burners, etc., would more than nullify any gain in the cost of the lights, and that the city would not be so blind to its interest as to keep the new lights any longer than the present Council is in power, are sufficient to prevent any change. BELLAIRE, LOCALS.-We hope vanced from enforcing with "rigorous penalties" laws which fixed the price of money, of corn, and the cut of boot toes! Which fixed the price at which

Depressing Maladies.

Dyspepsia, constipation and billousness, as well as disorders of the nervous system and the organs of arination, re-set by sympathy upon the brain, frequently causing a degree of mental depression not remotely akin to insanity. The surest way to banish the "blues" thus produced is to use that unfailing antidote to bodily irregularity and gloominess of mind, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, A course of the great corrective tonle promptly removes the maladies above specified, as well as many others, and restores the cheerfulness which is such a characteritic attendant of good health. It likewise imparts a vigor to the constitution
